

FOOD TRUCK PLANET

La Cocina Nuestra

Sonny and Maria represent the Mexican American tradition. Their battered taco truck survives by one simple philosophy: "Nobody leaves hungry." They feed strangers before themselves, making compassion their greatest weapon.

Lucky's Carnival

An army of American roadside food trucks serving fried food, funnel cakes, candy, and excess. Every stop becomes a carnival of temptation where appetite slowly replaces morality.

The Butchies

Mad Maxine's legendary all-female biker gang serving classic Chicago Street food—Italian beef, hot dogs, deep-dish pizza, and Polish sausage. Fierce, loyal, and impossible to intimidate.

Patty Cake's Sweet Resistance

A colorful dessert truck famous for cupcakes, pies, cookies, and ice cream. Beneath its cheerful appearance lies one of the toughest resistance movements in the wasteland.

Cain

A nation unto himself. No truck. No banner. No followers. The mysterious wanderer appears wherever hope is fading, quietly guiding others toward redemption.

Jerk Posse

Led by Big Tone, this Jamaican convoy is famous for blazing jerk barrels, reggae, and fearless warriors. Easygoing until provoked, they believe every meal should be shared—and every enemy should fear them.

Sultans of Shish

Led by Ahmed, this Middle Eastern coalition preserves the traditions of shawarma, kebabs, charcoal grilling, and sacred hospitality. Guests are honored. Enemies are remembered.

Pitmaster Blaze

A towering Texas barbecue warlord commanding gigantic smokers, offset pits, flamethrowers, and rolling smokestacks. He believes fire reveals truth and that every problem can be solved over a good fire.

Samurai Sushi Syndicate

Japanese food artisans whose immaculate trucks reflect precision, honor, and absolute discipline. They waste neither food nor words.

Mumbai Spice Caravan

Indian cooks, healers, and keepers of ancient spices. Their caravans preserve medicine alongside recipes, making them invaluable allies.